the practice of spiritual direction assumes a theology of the holy spirit a theology of revelation and of the church and a theology of prayer seeking god in all things explores each of these themes as the underpinnings of spiritual direction and examines what makes the christian religious experience distinctive since not every experience of god bears a christian imprint william reiser sj asks whether and in what way a christian might be able to assist someone who is not christian in developing his or her interior life this question looks beyond suggesting the concrete steps a person might take in initiating nurturing and solidifying a way of praying it looks rather toward the fundamental issue of helping others as they discover and deepen their relationship to the mystery of god chapters are it is god who directs imagining divine action in human lives where do holy desires come from what is distinctive about the christian religious experience further elements of christian distinctiveness the incarnation as a starting point for spiritual direction and should christian spirituality move beyond jesus william reiser sj phd is a professor of theology in the religious studies department at holy cross college worcester massachusetts over the past twelve years he has also served as an associate staff member at the center for religious development in cambridge he is the author of jesus in solidarity with his people published by liturgical press

do you sometimes feel as though god has taken a vacation and common sense has died in a world that seems to be spinning out of control worse than ever we need an anchor to ground us in faith and a compass to lead around the many pitfalls we face just trying to live our daily lives that anchor and compass is Jesus Christ James J. Jackson's book In All Things: Moral Reflections and Decisions on Life Issues will encourage, entertain, and give you the comfort of knowing that you can deal with any of life's issues if you seek God's way. It will give you assurance that the Lord will give you the grace to endure anything. James J. Jackson has experienced more adversity than most have endured, but his writings in this book, which are a compilation of published columns, reflect how God guided him and blessed him in spite of all the slings and arrows he faced. You will be blessed by these columns, whether on the lighter side or tackling heavy spiritual issues. As you envelope yourself in all things, moral reflections, and decisions of life issues.

This volume explores the shape pneumatology takes when we develop the theology of the Holy Spirit within an eschatological framework that has a universal scope and an unlimited history. When we do so, we find that pneumatology deriving from questions about what the Spirit does for us needs to give way to pneumatology that derives from questions about how the Spirit can draw us into the saving history of the Triune God.

Some people can't see the forest for the trees; they get so bogged down in details that they lose sight of what it's all about. Others can't see the trees for the forest; they miss the wondrous details all around them. So why not look instead at both the forest and the trees? This commentary on Paul's letter to the Colossians guides you in doing just that. Even though we will be exploring ancient biblical cultures and learning plenty about the Greek language, no prior academic training is needed. Technical terms have been set aside in favor of everyday language. We will discover the big picture and revel in the fine details of this stunning letter. Amazed by how God is still speaking these same words today to contemporary personal and social challenges, we will not then be tourists rapidly zipping through colossians as if on a monotonous interstate highway instead we will be hiking our way through this letter step by step phrase by phrase finding joy in gods truth and growing in our faith come and join the journey
